DRAMA/HISTORY

DUNKIRK (P13)

Director Christopher Nolan's wartime epic recounts the harrowing tale of what Churchill dubbed the 'miracle of deliverance', which saw the evacuation of some 338,000 troops from the beaches of Dunkirk. Told through three narratives, the movie weaves together stories from the land, the sea and the air, each taking place over different time frames. While troops await deliverance from an inbound flotilla, a battle wages in the air and on sea. Tightly bound with suspense, featuring long drawn-out moments fleshed out with Hans Zimmer's imposing score, the movie is as compelling and beautifully shot as one would expect from a master like Nolan. When the timelines finally meet, it's a profound experience that leaves you reeling long after the credits roll.

Starring: Fionn Whitehead, Barry Keoghan, Mark Rylance
Running time: 1 hr 55 mins

ARCHAEOLOGY

TUTANKHAMUN: THE TRUTH UNCOVERED (P13)

What killed King Tutankhamun? Ever since his spectacular tomb was discovered, the boy king has been the most famous pharaoh of all ancient Egypt. But his mysterious death, at just 19 years old, has never been explained. This documentary presents a raft of new scientific research and experiments that have been carried out to shed light on the mystery.

Running time: 1 hr 5 mins

HORROR/THRILLER

IT (18)

A Stephen King masterpiece, this tale sees an unspeakable terror turning the small Maine town of Derry into its own hunting ground.

The paranormal manifestation takes the form of Pennywise the Dancing Clown, who has a penchant for putting on morbid shows for his young victims and uses illusions to bring them within his reach. A ragtag group of bullied preteens are among those whose minds he toys with, only they have had enough and want to put a stop to his lethal spree. Together, they set out to confront the evil Pennywise.

CRIME/DRAMA

LIVE BY NIGHT (18)

A tribute to the Hollywood gangster movies of old, Live By Night tells the tale of a Boston Police Superintendent's son who is seduced by the allure of being an outlaw, turning his back on his family and upbringing for a life of notoriety instead. When he betrays a powerful mob boss by stealing his money, he soon learns just how ruthless the criminal underworld can be. This is ultimately Ben Affleck's passion project – the movie he always wanted to make, and this is clearly evidenced by the level of detail he infuses the film with. Cinematically, too, the movie is stunning; filled with sweeping city shots of a bygone Florida and stylish shootouts in luxury hotels. This is thanks largely to the film's director of photography, Robert Richardson, who has worked on the Quentin Tarantino classics Kill Bill and Django Unchained among others.

Starring: Ben Affleck, Elle Fanning, Brendan Gleeson, Chris Messina, Sienna Miller

Running time: 2 hrs 10 mins

AUTOMOTIVE

CLASSIC CAR RESCUE: DELOREAN (U)

The team discover an old DeLorean and set about trying to restore it to its former glory. The gull-winged car was made famous in Robert Zemeckis' iconic sci-fi action comedy Back To The Future, where a certain Dr Emmett "Doc" Brown turns it into a time machine.

INTERSTELLAR (P13)

In the not-too-distant future, Planet Earth stands ravaged by drought and famine leading to widespread panic and chaos. Now a group of elite scientists and astronauts must travel into the solar system to find a far-off planet that can support human life in order to prevent total extinction. Cooper pilots the spaceship Endurance in search of this new planet, meaning the divorced father-of-two must leave his children behind in order to save the human race. Directed by the now-legendary Christopher Nolan, Interstellar brings all the exquisite story-telling of The Dark Knight trilogy with the futuristic brilliance of Inception. Winning one of the five Oscars for which it was nominated for last year, the story's real gem is the relationship between McConaughey's character and his children – giving fleshed-out characters for every filmgoer to root for, even those not normally a fan of the sci-fi genre. An instant Nolan classic!

Dunkirk

Jumping between timelines with surgical precision, Christopher Nolan's masterpiece immerses you in the Miracle of Dunkirk (P13)

When the British Expeditionary Force and other Allied troops were forced to retreat into a narrow coastal pocket in France, surrounded by advancing Nazi Germany on all sides, it would set in motion the biggest evacuation in military history – also known as Operation Dynamo.

It is this 10-day traumatic event during World War II that director Christopher Nolan tackles in his latest film, faithfully recreating the rescue of some 338,000 troops from the beaches of Dunkirk.

Nolan weaves the tale through three narratives introduced as The Mole, The Sea, and The Air, each taking place over different time frames, intercut with each other to create a powerful picture.

We follow troops over the course of a week as they stand in snaking lines on the beach, waiting for boats to arrive and hoping to board one. Bombs rain down on them as they huddle anxiously and the atmosphere is filled with dread.

We follow a civilian skipper over a day, roped into the mass operation with his son and a local boy. They pick up a shell-shocked soldier on the way, stranded on his sunken boat, with unexpected consequences. Finally, we follow a Spitfire pilot as he battles German Messerschmitts and Stukas while they fly sorties and pick off troops on the ground.

Along with Hans Zimmer's masterful score, the movie is an almost visceral experience far removed from your standard war flick. It's poetry in motion on screen as Nolan creates some of his most visually arresting work here, with enough suspense and emotion to keep your reeling long after the credits roll.

It

The scariest clown in history rears his ugly head in a sleepy Maine town – but can his victims fight back and put the diabolical entity to bed once and for all? (18)

Before being brought to petrifying life by the brilliant Tim Curry in the 1990 miniseries adaptation,

It haunted the imaginations of millions who read the 1986 eponymous novel by Stephen King. This horror writer has monsters prowling the deepest trenches of his macabre mind, and every so often he sets one loose in the world.

It is vintage King, possessing more than enough nightmare fuel to curdle blood. Just ask a coulrophobic person where they got their fear of clowns from, and chances are they'll point their finger at Pennywise, the ghoulish antagonist of this story. To say he is scary because of his ghastly makeup and chilling grin would only be scratching the surface, for he is pure evil to the core.

When this mysterious apparition shows up in Derry in the late eighties, he gets about with his deadly ways right under the noses of the townspeople. With the ability to manipulate minds and change his appearance, he lures unsuspecting juveniles into his clutches and vanishes with them, leaving a wake of missing-children posters behind him.

His targets include a group of seven hapless tweenagers, each one tormented by Pennywise's grotesque mind games. They soon learn that they are being plagued by the same creature – whom they dub It – and decide to mount a counteroffensive to take the evil clown down; but defeating a supernatural being that eats kids for breakfast is a tall task, especially with the devious tricks he has up his sleeves.

This 2017 remake sees Bill Skarsgård portraying a particularly sinister Pennywise, so prepare for an onslaught of hair-raising scenes!

Live By Night

When Joe Coughlin turns his back on the life he once knew for the criminal underworld, he quickly discovers that rules exist everywhere (18)

“You realise that to be free in this life, breaking the rules means nothing. You have to be strong enough to make your own,” Ben Affleck’s good-guy-gone-bad character Joe Coughlin empathetically remarks at one point in Affleck’s latest self-directed motion picture, Live By Night.

A tribute to the Hollywood gangster movies of old, Live By Night tells the tale of a Boston Police Superintendent’s son who is seduced by the allure (and profit) of being an outlaw, turning his back on his family and upbringing as a result. But when he betrays a powerful mob boss by stealing his money, he soon learns just how ruthless the criminal underworld can be.

He sets out on a path of revenge, crossing paths with the Ku Klux Klan, mafia bosses and rival gangs all fighting for their piece of the American dream.

But it’s not all about the boys – the women of Live By Night make their own mark in various ways. Sienna Miller, Zoe Saldana and Elle Fanning all put in solid acts as female interests in Joe’s life – Miller as the seductive Irish femme fatale whose betrayal leads Joe to the dark side, Saldana as Joe’s loving but controversial Cuban wife, and Fanning as the wide-eyed ingénue, who Joe ends up taking under his wing.

Cinematographically too, the movie is stunning; filled with sweeping city shots of a bygone Florida and stylish shootouts in luxury hotels. This is thanks to the film’s director of photography, Robert Richardson, who has worked on the Quentin Tarantino classics Kill Bill and Django Unchained among others.

This is ultimately Ben Affleck’s passion project – the movie he always wanted to make and which he’s poured his heart and soul into. A fact clearly evidenced by the level of detail he infuses the film with.

Suicide Squad

When the world faces unimaginable threats, it's time to up the ante and fight fire with fire (P13)

The citizens of Earth have been made privy to the existence of beings far more powerful than man, or his greatest weapons for that matter, when Superman appeared on screens performing one incredible feat after another.

Naturally, an individual that can fly faster than a speeding bullet and break handcuffs with a nonchalant flick of his wrists has got the defence bigwigs sweating under their collars – what if he decides to become the supreme ruler of the world? Who will stop him? Are there others like him, or even worse?

Capitalising on this air of uncertainty, intelligence agent Amanda Waller pitches her unconventional idea to the folks in charge: round up ruthless supervillains to covertly eradicate unorthodox threats, in return for commuted prison sentences.

Each possessing their own brand of nefarious talents with straight-talking personalities to match, Harley Quinn, Deadshot, El Diablo, Captain Boomerang, Killer Croc, and Slipknot agree to the terms and conditions. With their lives on the line and every member as expendable as a penny, the team cheekily calls itself the Suicide Squad.

They are promptly thrown into the deep end, tasked with defeating the Enchantress, an ancient and sinister witch who longs to reign supreme once more. Strong-armed into trusting each other, the eclectic group is heavily tested by the lure of chaos and malevolence, while the deranged Joker complicates matters with the relentless pursuit of his sweetheart, Harley.

Chaperoned by Colonel Rick Flag and the superheroine Katana, they reluctantly find jagged momentum, but as the offensive staggers on wispy motivation and questionable camaraderie, will the Squad succeed, or live up to its name and succumb under the foot of the omnipotent Enchantress?

Fist Fight

If you thought students were the only ones to go mano-a-mano in the parking lot, think again (18)

It's the final day of school at Roosevelt High, an underfunded institution laced with office politics and filled with apathetic students who get off on terrorising weak-kneed teachers. As the last few hours before the final bell set in, students go all out with prank day, riding mattresses down stairs and pulling crazy stunts on their elders.

In the middle of this maelstrom is meek-mannered teacher Andy Campbell, who takes the insults in his stride and keeps a low profile as he knows budget cuts are in the pipeline, and with that, imminent sackings. He can't afford to lose his job with baby number two on the way.

Meanwhile, hot-tempered history teacher Ron Strickland operates on the other end of the spectrum, delivering verbal beat downs to his students with a big side of intimidation. When a complex series of events sees Campbell ratting out Strickland to the school principal to save his job, the latter squares up and challenges the former to fight in the parking lot.

As Campbell contemplates certain doom he grasps at straws to try and get himself out of his predicament, including trying to pin drugs on the sneering Strickland to land him behind bars. All the while, he's also got his daughter's talent show to worry about, and a pregnant wife that won't get off his case.

Charlie Day and Ice Cube are the warring leads in a movie that packs a comedic punch with plenty of laughs. The chemistry between actors also extends to the supporting cast with athletics coach Tracy Morgan, French teacher Christina Hendricks and principal Dean Norris all in fine form. Jillian Bell as the inappropriately horny guidance councillor is a particular standout, with one-liners that hit their mark!
